

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method of embedding at least one flexible conductive track foil in a plastics material, wherein a prefabricated stiffening element is provided, said stiffening element accommodates said at least one flexible conductive track foil and secures it against bending, and said plastics material is injection-molded around said flexible track foil and said stiffening element in an injection-mold.

TOP SECRET - SOURCE